Real Estate Agent in Andheri Mumbai: The first thing while inspecting the properties with the estate agent is to look for the condition of the building, if the condition of the building (check for dirt, stains on walls, look for cleanliness) is adequate you can give a thought whether to lease that property. If the property is satisfying the needs and has no extra cost of repair works is a good sign that the condition of the property is up to the mark. If there is no regular maintenance the property will later increase your expenses so better to avoid a property that doesn't look after the maintenance factor. Get to know how often the foundation check-up is done of the property foundation issues can be cracks or decay on the walls which reflects poor condition so better to avoid such properties.
